frevvo

- Developers spent countless hours developing forms using custom software that was difficult to use and had very short shelf life.
- Business users found it difficult to find information to act upon.
- There was no consistent mechanism for creating business processes which led to confusion and frustrated business users.

Customer Profile: This large international provider of sports betting and casino games is based in Europe branches in several countries. The company has more than 6000 employees.

Solution Summary: The company uses frevvo with Confluence where it has become a very important capability as the features of both applications have allowed them to develop a Service Catalog with online ordering for their customers with pricing data being displayed within frevvo forms embedded in Confluence. In the I.T. Department, they use frevvo forms on a daily basis for a multitude of tasks that range from employee onboarding to budget management. frevvo is very easy to setup and use whilst being extremely powerful and flexible. The customer has already migrated a lot of asset and stock management functions to frevvo which were previously handled by custom software. Reduction of development time to build workflows has allowed them to focus on other key priorities. Business users appreciate that information is much more accessible.

> "frevvo integrates with our Confluence system as well as other systems without complex APIs.
>
> And the best part of all is that frevvo is very cost-effective and feature-rich compared to products that are many times the price."
>
> Gary J.,
> Service Owner

Benefits:
- frevvo makes it fast and easy to design and deploy new workflows to solve business issues.
- Business users easily complete approvals and are able to spend time focusing on customers.
- frevvo provides a rich set of features at reasonable cost.
- It integrates with Confluence and other systems without requiring custom APIs.